DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-30 are presented for examination. Claims 1, 13, 19 and 26 have been amended.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by IwaZaki (US 6,687,742).
4. As per claim 1, IwaZaki teaches the invention as claimed including a data structure for an electronic mail file comprising a first portion comprising combined electronic mail data [Text, Fig. 4] and variable meta-data information [Attached Image, Fig. 4; col. 7, lines 13-27]; and a second portion comprising a header [Header, Fig. 4] with link to information capable of monitoring changes in the variable meta-data information, the information additionally capable of identifying a location of the electronic mail data within electronic mail file [col. 6, lines 28-54; col. 11, lines 46-63].

5. As per claims 2-4, IwaZaki teaches the header includes a link to a start of the electronic mail data, a link to an electronic mail sender and a link to an electronic mail recipient [Header, Fig. 4].

6. As per claim 5, IwaZaki teaches the header operates as an encoder and monitors changes to the variable meta-data information [col. 6, lines 28-39].

7. As per claim 6, IwaZaki teaches the header operates as an encoder and monitors a location of the electronic mail data within the file [Message-ID in Header, Fig. 4].

8. As per claim 7, IwaZaki teaches the meta-data information is referenced in the header [col. 8, lines 13-25].

9. As per claims 8-12, since they are method claims of claims 1-7, they are rejected for the same basis as claims 1-7 above.

10. As per claims 13-18, since they are computer program claims of claims 1-7, they are rejected for the same basis as claims 1-7 above.

Art Unit: 2154

11. As per claims 19-25, since they disclose the same limitation as claims 1-7 from different prospect (i.e., sender and receiver), they are rejected for the same basis as claims 1-7 above.

12. As per claim 26, IwaZaki teaches the invention as claimed including a method of providing an electronic mail file from a sending computer to at least one receiving computer within a data communication network comprising: establishing a simple mail transfer protocol (SMTP) session between the sending computer and the at least one receiving computer, generating commands by the sending computer, sending the commands to the at least one receiving computer [col. 6, lines 49-54]; and sending replies from the at least one receiving computer to the sending computers wherein the electronic mail file includes combined electronic mail data [Text, Fig. 4] and variable meta-data information [Attached Image, Fig. 4; col. 7, lines 13-27] and a header containing links to meta-data information and to a location of the electronic mail data within electronic mail file [col. 6, lines 28-54; col. 7, lines 40-50; col. 11, lines 46-63].

13. As per claim 27, IwaZaki teaches the data communication network includes an Internet or Intranet [13, Fig. 1].

14. As per claim 28, IwaZaki teaches the header includes a link to a start of the electronic mail data, to an electronic mail sender, and to an electronic mail recipient [Header, Fig. 4].

Art Unit: 2154

15. As per claim 29, IwaZaki teaches the header monitors changes to the meta-data information and monitors a location of the electronic mail data within the file [Message-ID in Header, Fig. 4].

16. As per claim 30, IwaZaki teaches the meta-data information is referenced in the header [col. 8, lines 13-25].

Conclusion

17. Applicant's arguments filed on 1/20/05 for claims 1-30 have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive.

In the remarks, applicant argued in substance that (1) IwaZaki does not teach the newly added limitation in claim 1; (2) IwaZaki does not teach combining a single file electronic mail data and variable meta-data information; (3) IwaZaki does not teach sending and receiving electronic mail files; (4) IwaZaki does not teach the newly added limitation in claim 26.

18. Examiner respectfully traverses applicant's remarks:

A. As to points (1) and (4), applicant fails to consider the teaching of the IwaZaki for combining electronic mail data [Text, Fig. 4] and variable meta-data information [Attached Image, Fig. 4; col. 7, lines 13-27]; and a second portion comprising a header [Header, Fig. 4] with link to information capable of monitoring changes in the variable meta-data information, the information additionally capable of identifying a location of the electronic mail data within electronic mail file [col. 6, lines 28-54; col. 11, lines 46-63]. Thus, IwaZaki does teach the newly added limitation in claims 1 and 26.

B. As to point (2), applicant fails to consider the teaching of the IwaZaki for combining electronic mail data [Text, Fig. 4] and variable meta-data information [Attached Image, Fig. 4; col. 7, lines 13-27], i.e., that is a single file as applicant claimed in claim 8. Thus, IwaZaki does teach the limitation in claim 8.

C. As to point (3), applicant fails to consider the teaching of the IwaZaki for sending and receiving electronic mail files [col. 4, line 51 – col. 5, line 26].

Accordingly, IwaZaki is a relevant prior art reference.

19. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP §706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

20. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
